Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

While it is easy to criticise the cool reception Henry J. Kaiser received in Washington following his proposal to build a huge number of cargo planes each of 200 tonnage or better, it may be well to pause and consider various factors in the proposal first. In this week's Aeronautical News for instance appears this item:

The American Aircraft Industry is building thousands of cargo planes for the swift transportation of men, munitions and other supplies to every front in this global war, through the operation of the Army and Navy's air transport services.

Henry Kaiser's plan involved building bigger and larger planes in greater numbers, and on a time-schedule comparable with his 10-day ship construction feats. But apparently the Army and Navy were already getting cargo planes from a half dozen air plants. To have given him a contract would have disrupted plans, perhaps, that had been long in the making. The Aeronautical News goes on to say:

By the end of 1943, Army air force commanders have indicated the number of air transport cargo planes will have swelled to so many thousands that air transport will approach parity with wartime shipping.

It would have mollified popular indignation, over his reception in Washington, when Kaiser made his proposal, if this fact, heralded only last week in the Aeronautical News had been made public at the time of his conference with Donald Nelson. But somehow, at that time, despite myriads of highly paid publicity men in Washington, it was not divulged.

A present, says the Aeronautical News, these cargo carrying giants are girdling the globe over roughly four rapidly expanding sky routes. From points on both U. S. coasts and from many sections of the interior, dozens of them daily wing their way to Australia and New Zealand; others are flying to Alaska and thence to Russia and China; another route takes the cargo planes to the British Isles via Iceland, and great fleets of them are operating via South America to Egypt from which point they continue their flights to India and the South Pacific battle areas.

Some of the cargo planes now rolling from roduction lines at the aircraft plants are wholly new models, and others are modifications of existing transort liners which have proved their ability to take it through multiple-thousands of miles of service over the country's established commercial air lines.

After Kaiser's record in ship building, however, no layman who knows little of either ship building or plane building, will believe that anyone else in this country could have built so many cargo planes and such big ones, as could Henry Kaiser if he had been given a chance. For the man himself, the country has a vast admiration. No enemy country, nor for that matter any of the United Nations has produced his like. Americans not only applaud his accomplishments but on the rare occasions when he speaks, they listen with rapt attention. When he talks of the future he heartens the whole country. Last week in Oakland he said:

"A very considerable number of men are fretting themselves because of tomorrow. Their thoughts run about like this: 'What will we do with all expanded plant and equipment when peace is declared?' 'What will the new army of trained labor do when the war is over?' 'What will be the effect of the present wage scales when the post-war depression sets in?' 'How can we ever service the huge debt which is now being created?'

"There is another great anxiety

Nevada City, Grass Valley To Carry On Despite Order Closing Mines

Will the order closing the gold mines of this area mean the commercial death of Nevada City and Grass Valley?

That question seems to be in the minds of every resident of the two communities now that the War Production Board has "cracked down" on the gold mining industry in an effort to provide additional miners for copper and other essential mineral mines.

The answer, many believe, is in the negative.

The one big concession granted gold mine operators by the WPB was that they will be able to maintain skeleton crews for dewatering operations and timbering to prevent the underground workings from caving.

A preliminary survey shows the gold mines, outside of the Lava Cap, which, by the way, will probably not be effected by the order through production of a necessary flux in the smelting of lead, have at the present time hardly more than a skeleton crew and all men at present on the payroll, will probably be retained for the important upkeep work.

Apparently to forestall any exodus of the men they do have on the payroll, the Empire-Star Mine Company officials reportedly told their men yesterday not to quit, that work will be provided for them.

In addition to the substantial maintenance crews to be employed in the closed gold mines, the county can reply on the Lava Cap, where 300 men are employed and an expected large amount of business from Camp Beale, where 40,000 soldiers will be stationed T.he cantonment will require hundreds of civilian employees and many of those employees will be obtained from the communities of Nevada City and Grass Valley.

The WPB will find Nevada City gold operators cooperative in doing everything possible for the war effort. Said Albert Crase, general manager of the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation, the state's largest gold producer:

"We will carry out the recommendations or orders of the government. We are going to do just as the government says. I guess that is all that can be said:

Crase said he could not estimate the number of men that will be required to keep the mines from flooding or caving.

John Mann, general manager of the Empire Star properties, said he is awaiting receipt of the actual order to determine what plans his company will make in obeying the order.

Regarding the Lava Cap, General Manager Otto Schiffner said:

"The Lava Cap is not classed as a gold mine, but as a strategic mineral producer. I do not think the order will apply to us or the War Production Board would not have granted us the same priority rating that is given to shipyards and other defense industries."

Charles V. Averill, engineer of the bureau of mines, said no figures are immediately available on either the number of mines in operation at this time or on the number of employes involved in the shutdown. He pointed out, however, that a great many mines were already closed so the order does not involve as many workers as it would have last year.

The purpose of the order, under consideration for some time, was to release miners from the gold fields for work in mines producing strategic metals such as copper.

The move was opposed by senators from gold producing states and gold mine operators who met with WPB officials last week to make their protests.

The WPB action to close the mines will be taken under the war powers delegated to Chairman Donald M. Nelson by the president. In similar manner the WPB ordered the automobile industry to convert to war production.

Estimates as to the number of gold miners who would be available to produce other metals varied widely. Some western congressmen opposing the order said it would yield only a few hundred workers to the nonferrous metals mines while WPB officials placed the number at several thousand.

No steps were planned to compel the gold miners to work in the copper and other mines but officials expected that the men would turn to those miners voluntarily for patriotic and economic reasons. Those who do not officials said, might be expected to seek work in other war industries.

Gold production in the United States, including the Philippines and Alaska, amounted to 5,611,171 fine ounces valued at $196,391,000 in 1939.

Representative Englebright contended that the closing of the gold mines would serve no useful purpose and said he would ask the WPB to reconsider its decision.

He declared there were less than 2000 hard rock miners in the western gold operations, that these averaged 45 to 48 years of age and that few could be expected to seek employment in copper or other strategic minerals.

Englebright added that gold mining supported the economic structure of 19 northern California counties and that while the operators were "willing to make any sacrifice and had no desire to compete with war industries, the operations are not competitive in nature."

War Department Issues Regulations On Mailing Xmas Gifts To Soldiers

The War Department today appealed to the public to help speed Christmas mail to soldiers in service in every part of the world.

The public was urged to cooperate so that the gift packages and letters may be delivered in the most expeditious manner. Special emphasis was laid on properly addressing the mail.

Following is the way the Army wants you to address a Christmas parcel:

From: Pvt. John R. Doe, 12345678
....Co. B. 999th Infantry
Fort Douglas, Utah.
To: Pvt. William D. Roe, 3434272
Company F, 167th Infantry
A. P. O. (No.) care Postmaster
San Francisco, California.

"Mail from home," the department said, "is perhaps the most important contribution to the morale of a soldier and of all times of the year, the gifts and messages delivered at the Christmas season have the most profound effect upon the soldier who is fighting overseas."

There are approximately 700 Nevada County men in the service. Every resident of the county either has relatives or close friends fighting for our country. They are urged to contribute to the morale of these soldiers by sending a Christmas gift to at least one.

Here are the regulations and procedure to be followed, as prescribed by the Army, in sending gifts. Following out the recommendations will not only comply with Army regulations but also aid local and other postal employees in seeing they are delivered promptly and correctly.

1.....Parcels should be mailed between October 1 and November 1.

2. They should be limited to the size of an ordinary shoe box and weigh no more than six pounds.

3. Each should be addressed with the full name, serial number, service organization and Army post office number of the addressee.

4. Each should be securely wrapped to withstand rigorous handling.

5. Postage must be fully prepaid at the regular parcel post rates only to the point of embarkation.

The War Department explained that not more than one Christmas parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same address, that no intoxicants may be mailed, that no inflammable materials (includin!g matches or lighter fluids) will be accepted and that currency should not be mailed.

Metallic, wooden, or at least corrugated cardboard cases enclosing packages are absolutely essential. Such packages cannot be handled with too much care as they get bounced around in holds of ships.

They should be packed with the idea they contain crockery and are to be shipped by freight. For this reason alone, everything in a bottle is ruled out.

Practical Christmas gifts suggested:

Books of all types, razor blades (electric razors are liable to turn up in New Caledonia or some place where there are no handy electric outlets), toilet articles, pencils and fountain pens, stationery, playing cards, games of various kinds, dominoes.

Tennis shoes, bathing suits and sun glasses are very welcome in South Sea Island posts. Baseball equipment and boxing gloves bring smiles to recipients. Particularly gloated over are pictures from home. Cigarettes and tobacco are excellent presents but they must be packed in airtight tins. Perishable foods are out.

ENROLLS AS MEDICAL STUDENT

Walter (Bud) Weaver of the Hooper-Waver Mortuary firm left yesterday for Berkeley to enroll in the University of California as a medical student. Weaver, a licensed embalmer, has always desired to be a physician and surgeon and intends to complete his six years of study to realize the life long ambition.

County Wide Scrap Drive Is Underway

The California Highway Patrol, its Nevada County auxiliary, the police departments of Nevada City and Grass Valley and other agencies yesterday opened a county wide scrap drive and inventory to determine the extent of scrap metal in the county for possible future use.

The Highway Patrol established a scrap depot opposite the patrol office in Hills Flat.

Richard R. Goyne was appointed head of the Nevada City sub committee. It is the plan of the present drive officials to collect all possible scrap now but also to conduct a thorough survey of the mines, sawmills, ranches and houses of the county to find out just what tonnage of scrap can be obtained in the future if necessary.

Captain J. E. Blake of the California Highway Patrol plans to contact the highway maintenance department and county supervisors in an effort to obtain trucks to transport the scrap obtained at this time. The drive will continue for 30 days.

School Bus Asked For Camp Beale

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting here Tuesday night, adopted a resolution endorsing the use of a school bus to transport defense workers from Nevada City and Grass Valley to Camp Beale.

There were only a few present at the meeting but those who did attend were glad they did not miss it.

Joe Spence gave a report on his efforts to obtain two busses to inaugurate a bus line to the camp. Spence is the operator of the Nevada City-Grass Valley bus line and he would extend his service to Camp Beale provided he could obtain the necessary equipment.

Mr. Kenyon, in charge of the laundry at Camp Beale, stated he has signed up 150 workers in Nevada City and Grass Valley to handle the cantonment laundry work. Additional help will probably be obtained from the two communities.

Secretary H. F. Sofge announced his intention to attend the state Chamber of Commerce highway committee meeting in Sacramento tomorrow at which the principal topic of discussion will be the transportation of defense workers to and from their jobs.

CUTTERS NEEDED BY RED CROSS

A new consignment of material has been received by the Nevada City Red Cross Chapter and local women are urgently requested to act as cutters in preparing the material for sewing.

Help is needed from as many women as can possibly devote some of their time to the cause.

Nevada City residents who have soft leather—old leather handbags will do—and fur of any kind are asked to leave them at the City Hall. They will be used in interlining garments for aviators.

HERB COOPER, FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN AUBURN

Nevada City residents regretted to learn Tuesday of the death of Herbert M. Cooper, 70, superintendent of the Drum division of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for more than 25 years and former Nevada City resident.

Many local residents attended the funeral services for Cooper. The rites were held today in Auburn.

Cooper's death was sudden. He suffered a heart attack. Cooper retired several years ago. He moved from Nevada City to Auburn in 1910 but was a frequent visitor here and had many friends in this city.

The deceased was a member of the Nevada City Elks Lodge. He was born in this county in 1872.

Surviving relatives include two daughters, Mrs. William Hughes of Auburn and Mrs. Phillip Nolan of San Francisco. His wife Mrs. Nettie Cooper, died several years ago in Auburn. He also leaves a siser, Mrs. Helen Lear of San Francisco.

ANNUAL PARISH DINNER IN NOV.

The Parish Council of Trinity Church will meet Monday evening at the home of Rev. Cedric Porter to discuss plans for the annual parish dinner and every member canvass to be conducted during the first week in November.

The date for the parish dinner has been set for Friday evening November 6. On Saturday, November 7, a card party, food sale and bazaar has been planned; and on Sunday, November 8, Bishop Noel Porter of Sacramento will be the special preacher at a loyalty Sunday service.

The Parish Council is composed of all members of the vestry, plus the heads of each of the parish organizations.

LOCAL WOMAN INVOLVED IN GRASS VALLEY ACCIDENT

Mrs. Elizabeth Self of Nevada City was the operator of a car which struck Mrs. William Novak and her one year old son in front of the office of Dr. Carl P. Jones on Auburn Street in Grass Valley.

The accident took place as Mrs. Novak stepped on the street. The child was knocked from her arms onto the pavement but an X-ray showed there were no fractures.

Caught in the Riffles

Twenty eight Nevada County men were accepted for the Army Thursday. They will depart from Nevada City on October 20th and the Neighbors of Woodcraft of this city will entertain them.

Fred Juliff, who recently married Dorothy Roberts of this city, will be acting corporal in charge of the group, composed of:

George S. Wallace, Harry C. Gayle, Hobart L. Childers, David L. Calhoun, Clifton Tisher, William H. Rowe, Louis Leist, Dennis Coughlan, Jr., John G. Roscoe, Bernard Ve Veto, Cecil R. Childers, Frank Angelini, John E. Wellington, Donald J. Leary, Henry J. Toccalini, Arthur Johnson, Roger B. Wilson, Laurence Personeni, Phil V. Solaro, Louis Dolinar, Carlton H. Pascoe. Charles E. Gray, Elwood A. Williams, Roger R. Rockholm, Clyde J. Burnett, Anton Bernhardt, Jack L. Kennedy and Juliff.

It cost the Lava Cap Mines a pretty penny when an ore skip broke loose in the Central shaft, jumping the track below the 13th level and ripping out the sets of timber all the way to the sump. The cable was damaged and a new one had to be installed. Speaking of the Lava Cap, a two cent dividend on the stock was declared Saturday by the directors and a similar dividend is forthcoming at Christmas. One wonders how the order closing the gold mines will effect Idaho-Maryland Mines stock. Not so many years ago the stock sold for less than ten cent a share. It zoomed to beyond $7 at the peak of production several years ago and since the war has dropped to around $2 per share.

Walter Parrish, 43, former bill collector and blanket salesman of this district, was convicted by a jury in Sacramento for manslaughter in the slaying of his 76 ear old neighbor, Frank Lore.

Few deer are being killed. Game Warden Earl Hiscox said it is because of the dryness and heat, that the deer hide out all day. But another reason may be that hunters are running out of shells and were forced to abandon their hunting. . The Native Sons Building at Commercial and Pine Streets, formerly occupied by Rose's Fashion Shop and at present headquarters for the Elementary School dehydrating program, may be fixed up as a lounging place for soldiers. During the past week Nevada City residents have seen lots of men in uniform. Most of them were non commissioned officers assigned to Camp Beale. Only a few privates have arrived at the camp so far.

When Hobart Childers of Nevada City passed his physical examination for induction into the Army Tuesday the Army doctor paid him a fine compliment. The doctor said Childers had the finest set of teeth of any soldier applicant he ever examined. Arthur I. Dow has secured a rating as chief petty officer in the Navy and is expecting his call to Norfolk soon for six weeks basic training . . Bob Paine, much to his surprise, was granted his request for the air corps branch of the service. Paine is now in Florida receiving his basic training in officer's school.

Dick Goyne of the Miners Foundry is doing his part in the scrap metal drive by donating an historic cannon. . . We've always wondered why the iron doors on most of the buildings in town haven't been contributed to the war effort.

NO RUBBER, NO MILITIA

CAMPTONVILLE, Oct. 8. — A meeting of the local unit of the state militia was held Friday evening at the local Masonic Hall. The new enrollment blanks that were sent here for the re-enlistment of the local men, were discussed.

Because of the particular geographical situation of this community, the long distance necessary to travel to drill, the tire and gasoline situation, and the new provisions of the new enrollment prevented the local men from again signing up. So for the present there will be no active unit of the organization here.

COFFEE SHORTAGE

The war has come to the kitchen stove and put a crimp in the breakfast coffee. Hoarding in the east has stripped the stores of supplies of this widely-used beverage and in some communities coffee lines are being formed in front of establishments as housewives battle to get enough to meet immediate family needs.

The coffee shortage is unnecessary considering that the supply comes from friendly South America and is within easy reach of the United States. If people would be moderate in their use and their purchases no serious lack would be noticeable.

Most shortages are brought about by the rush of housewives to stock up. In buying large quantities of coffee they are only fooling themselves—for coffee is perishable and loses its flavor if kept too long.

American people must learn to share in the food restrictions and not try to gobble up things at the expense of their neighbors. If they will do this the war sacrifices will be fewer and rationing will be less burdensome.

CUT IN INSURANCE

Gasoline rationing and a 35-mile-an-hour maximum speed limit are going to curtail automobile driving and reduce the accident risk. The hazards of motoring will be cut down materially and this ought to be reflected in lower insurance rates for motorists.

The well protected motorist is insured against theft, fire liability and collision. He pays a fancy premium for this protection but it is a necessity if accident victims are to be compensated properly.

The present rates for automobile insurance are based on the high accident toll which has prevailed in this country for some years. That toll is now being reduced month by month but so far no reductions of any size have been made in the rate for automobile insurance.

The charge for the insurance should be commensurate with the risks. Reduce the rates as the hazards decline. Give back to the careful driver what is rightfully his.

WIN THE SCRAP

"Win this scrap with scrap."

That slogan should be in the mind of every person these days.

The nation needs all the scrap iron and steel that can be procured to keep the mills in operation this winter turning out guns, shells, tanks and armor plate for warships, and it is counting on the people to help procure the scrap.

If you have any scrap metal at home it is your patriotic duty to see that it is turned in for salvage and re-use.

Though the salvage campaign is covered by no law, failure to co-operate amounts to economic treason.

Wars are won or lost on battlefields. They are won if manpower, gunpowder and equipment are superior to that of the enemy. They are lost if these same factors are inferior.

America has a manpower reservoir from which to create a mighty army, inferior to none in size.

But what good is that army if it has no rifles, no machine guns, no artillery or tanks? What good is it if there are no ships to carry it to the war fronts, no warships to convoy it?

Every bit of scrap contributed means that victory will be made that much more secure, that more tools of war, even though it be only a dozen rifle bullets, will be there for use of our fighting men.

If our democratic way of life is to survive this holocaust, every loyal American must do everything possible to further the war effort.

Toss all the scrap metal you can onto the salvage piles. "Win this scrap with scrap!"

Clyde Gwin On Road To Recovery

A letter from Clyde Gwin, former auditor of the Tahoe National Forest Service of this city, president of the Rotary club, and Noble Grand Humbug of E Clampus Vitus, William Bull Meek chapter, states that he is on the mend. He is now at the Livermore Veterans hospital and hopes to be able to complete his rehabilitation at Balena Creek on Mt. Rose, 18 miles from Reno, this winter. This will be extremely good news to his host of friends in Nevada City, who cherish his memory as that of a man who gave unselfishly of his time for all civic betterments. For two years Gwin has had a hard uphill battle to regain his health.

A MILE AND A HALF OF NEW TELEPHONE WIRE

—that this machine gun may shoot for 4 minutes!

Our Long Distance lines are carrying the greatest volume of calls in history—calls directly related to production for war and the movement of men and supplies.

The materials needed to build new telephone lines have gone to war! For example, a machine gun in action four minutes will use up enough copper for a mile and a half of telephone wire.

Although we cannot build new lines, we can make the most of what we have. You can help if you will not make any Long Distance calls unless they are absolutely necessary. Even on these, please be as brief as you can.

For this our sincere appreciation. You are helping us to help you and our Country.

THINKING OUT LOUD

abroad to the effect that we are about to lose our American way of life; that Communism, socialism, or some other form of collectivism is about to usher in a super-state to direct our lives.

"If such a thing happens, it will be our own fault. If American enterprise is swept away it will be because its leaders are frightened to death. The new wealth which we will create in the new world must belong to the people who created it—who dare to say: IT CAN BE DONE. For enterprise and productivity have ever been stimulated and sustained by personal possession, and this is a truth which no propaganda can impair. If we engage all our energies fully in this business of production, none of the isms will ever prevail, for we have the fairest and most workable ism ever invented—Americanism—the very embodiment of courage and enterprise.

"I wish I had the eloquence and the influence to raise my voice just once so that it would reach every man, woman and child in these United States and say that we not only do not need to have a post-war depression, but, on the contrary, the very day that peace is declared, America can enter on the period of her most promising prosperity; her greatest agricultural and industrial expansion: her greatest individual and social opportunity. The rebuilding of the productive wealth which this war has destroyed is going to be the greatest jub man has ever tackled. What we need now is a new baptism of faith and confidence."

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

ED CAREY, our fire chief, came stompin' into the printin' office last week, madder'n a hornet.

"Say!" he yells. "If I could get my hands on that fellow Goebbels, I'd stick a fire hose in his mouth and turn on the pressure," Ed shouts, poundin' my desk. "Do you know what he's puttin' on the German short-wave propaganda to America NOW? He's tellin' folks that American army camps are full of drunkenness! Can you beat it?"

"Calm yourself, Ed," says I. "Nobody's going to believe what Goebbels tells 'em."

"But don't you see? He's puttin' this bare-faced lie on the air to stir up trouble."

"Pretty stupid propaganda, I'd say. Pretty silly, even for the Nazis," says I.

"How so?" says Ed. "There's people in this country that want beer taken out of the camps. That sure is going to hurt army morale. And this lie certainly is fuel for their fire."

"Not if I know Americans," I says. "And the Nazis don't know us. People realize that if Goebbels wants beer taken away from our soldiers—there must be a reason. The enemy won't stop anything that's hurting our army. They'll try to stop whatever's helping it."

"Say! That's true, ain't it?" Ed began to grin.

"Of course it's true—and reasonable people can't help but see it. So instead of makin' trouble—like they hope—they're just confirmin' what the Secretary of War and the other Army leaders believe—that among the other good wholesome things a fighting man can get at the canteen in camp—America should include beer."

From where I sit—I can guess why Goebbels wants beer out of the camps. The Nazis would a heap rather face an army that already lost its rights than one that was fighting for freedom it could touch and taste and feel every day . . . Wouldn't you?

DEHYDRATING PLANT RUNNING TO CAPACITY

Deep interest is being manifested in the dehydration of fruits and vegetables in the Native Sons building at the corner of Commercial and Pine streets with many volunteer workers appearing to assist in this work. sponsored by the Nevada City PTA.

The committee in charge of the caring for the fruits and vegetables wish to express their appreciation for the many donations of these commodities and all other assistance.

The Native Sons and Elks have donated rooms to be used in preparation of the fruits and vegetables. The Nevada City High School has furnished two dehydrators and the Miners Foundry a dehydrator and sulphur box. Among those giving the fruits and vegetables are Tom Corcoran, Tom Lawrence, Mrs. E. Thomas, Mrs. Richard Bonebrake, and Loma Rica Ranch. Mrs. Alfred Reynolds is handling the telephone calls. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Nelson and Mrs. Paul Chesboro have loaned dehydrators.

On Monday the storeroom contained 800 pounds of Bartlett and winter pears and string beans were in a refrigerator awaiting their time for drying. The pears were sorted and the dehydrators filled.

On Tuesday willing workers wrapped and packed the winter pears which were later placed in the refrigerators of Penrose Grocery store and Cardinal Market, space being donated. The winter pears will be held until ripe and then distributed to the school children.

Workers in the canteen class are working as supervisors in the preservation of fruits and vegetables.

NEVADA CITYANS SENTENCED ON GOLD CHARGES

Two Nevada City men and a Nevada City woman were sentenced to jail or penitentiary terms after they pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Martin I. Welsh to charges of filing false affidavits in disposing of gold purchased from highgraders.

Carl Trevethick, 51, a gold buyer, who was described by Judge Welsh as the ringleader, was sentenced to two years in a federal penitentiary. His brother, George Trevethick, 47, and Mrs. Eva Brock, 44, were given two year terms in the county jail.

At the time of the arrest of the trio in Nevada City, secret service agents declared they had evidence that the three bought approximately $100,000 in gold from highgraders in the Nevada City area during the past several years.

MINERS FOUNDRY WORKS 2 SHIFTS

Two shifts daily are at work in the Miners Foundry and Supply plant in this city doing work on parts needed for war equipment. Thirty men are now employed where but 10 were employed a year ago. Lobdell trucks are engaged in hauling away the completed parts to the assembling plants in other parts of California.

To take care of greatly expanded demands, a new welding plant, 40 feet wide by 120 feet long has just been completed. Sometime since the Miners Foundry purchased the New England mine buildings and the new welding plant is largely built of its timbers and roofing materials. Overhead steel rails provide for traveling cranes both lengthwise and across the new structure. With this equipment, the Miners Foundry can now do heavy welding jobs that formerly were difficult if not impossible.

The augmented force is composed mainly of veteran machinists and their helpers, over 50 years of age, and boys in their teens. While the foundry had difficulty in these times in securing adequately trained men, it has a staff now that can tackle and complete almost any job for which the machines of the plant are adequate.

With the gold mines closing early in December in obedience to the WPB order of yesterday, those veteran miners who have had mechanical or machinist training or experience may be able to find employment in the foundry or in many other similar plants scattered through California, now busily engaged in contributing parts to larger plants that assemble Uncle Sam's weapons. The Miners Foundry has some big orders in the offing and when they materialize about double the present force will be needed.
